

Miles Nelson is pleased to announce that they are the exclusive New Zealand distributor of Gainsborough door hardware.

An Australian company, Gainsborough has achieved a pre-eminent position in the world market for more than 30 years, supplying first class porcelain and decorative door furniture and developing a succession of innovative products that have attained new levels of excellence in design, manufacturing, functionality, ease of installation and durability.

The Gainsborough range has expanded over the years to include a comprehensive selection of entry handles, keylocks, passage sets and complementary accessories to meet the requirements of the renovator and building markets.

The Gainsborough range also now includes an impressive range of architectural products, including mortice locks, lever and knob on round rosette or long plate, knob and lever locksets, door closers, exit devices and general hardware, designed to meet the needs of today's commercial buildings and upper residential developments.

The commitment to research and development ensures higher quality, better techniques and a constant stream of new products. Emphasis is placed not only on function of product, but also ease of installation and the durability of electrolytic plated finishes which carry a conditional guarantee against deterioration.

Gainsborough places emphasis on the design and manufacture of exciting new products to meet the needs of today's decorating and security trends.
